The Parting Shot...

These ice sculptures, located in the front of the Northern Regional offices in Fairbanks of the Department of Transportation were created in the winter of 1996 by retired DOT employee and world renowned ice sculptor, Steve Lester. As a part of the annual Fairbanks Winter Carnival in Alaska, the Ice Sculpture competition draws artists from around the world. Steve dedicated these sculptures to the men and women surveyors of the Department.

"The Parting Shot" appears in place of where mailing information is located on postal mailed copies and is a little extra something for email recipients. Email your interesting surveying or Maine "Parting Shot" to editor@msls.org!
